Senate Passes Canal Toll Repeal 50 to 35

Bill Is Amended and Sent Back to the House—Much Bitterness Displayed.

Special to The Richmond Terminal.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Senate by a vote of 50 to 35 passed the bill to repeal the toll exemption of the Panama canal law. The bill now goes to the House with the Morris-Simmons amendment added. It is not certain that the President will now sign the bill with its qualifying amendment.

Airship Inventor Stanley in the East

Professor Chas. Stanley, the inventor of a Zeppelin pattern airship, writes The Terminal from New York that he is financing a manufacturing plant for his aircraft and that the factory will be built in Richmond and be in operation early in 1915. The company of capitalists that Mr. Stanley has interested in his invention are enthusiastic and determined to have the Stanley airships in active service in the bay region for the Panama Pacific Exposition.

City Hall Lawsuit Was Postponed

The suit brought in the Superior court to compel the mayor of Richmond to place his signature to an agreement entered into by the city council providing for the location of the city building on 20th street in Harbor Center tract, has been postponed to June 30. Mayor Ludwig announced that he had received a certified check from the John Nicholl Co. binding the offer of the company in the matter of the 23d street site for the municipal building.

Contra Costa county organized labor voters are looking into the records of all candidates, how they stand and "how they voted." No "bull con" goes with the union man this trip. He is "from Missouri." Legislature records will be investigated.

Wells Drury, the well known newspaper man of Berkeley, is urged by his progressive friends to become a candidate for the legislature. Mr. Drury would receive the unanimous endorsement of the entire newspaper fraternity of the bay cities. Berkeley could not send a stronger man to the legislature.

Richmond's chief of police, James P. Arnold, tendered his resignation to the city council Monday night. He will enter the lists for sheriff of Contra Costa county against the present incumbent, R. R. Veale. Chief Arnold's resignation will be effective June 30. Detective Sergeant Charles H. Walker has received favorable mention as Mr. Arnold's successor.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The coroner and undertaker's office should be kept separate. Undertakers should not have a "corner" on the coroner's office.

Detective R. N. Ruiz, an old timer on the police force, is mentioned for the position of chief of police.

Richard Paasch, C. B. Evans and Leland S. Higgins are mentioned for position of chief of Richmond fire department.

Chester H. Rowell, progressive candidate for U. S. Senator, is billed to speak in the Tenth street school the evening of June 19th.

Undertakers often see the fallacy of becoming candidates for county coroners. Bert Curry is a good politician. He saw the point.

A reporter of the Record-Herald and a reporter of the Independent were yesterday distributing campaign cards in the interest of James Arnold for sheriff.

Francis J. Heney has headquarters in the Kamm building, San Francisco, but there seems to be little stirring. Heney is still in Tucson in charge of an important lawsuit.

John Bermington, the political manager for Charles M. Belshaw, considers the nomination of his candidate for governor a sure thing, basing his belief on the reception of Belshaw in the interior.

It looks very much like political candidates will have to "come out in the open" this year. There is no chance to "fudge," and that old line of "bull" won't work any more—not even with the ladies.

Thos. H. Griffin of Modesto, candidate for U. S. senator, the man who, it is said, is going to receive the women vote on account of the eight hour law is campaigning the San Joaquin valley.

The announcement of Judge John Roth appears in this issue of The Terminal. He is a candidate for re-election for justice of the peace, and needs no eulogizing or press notices, because he is the man for the place and has no opposition.

The supporters of Hon. Chas. F. Curry of this, the third congressional district, are circulating nomination papers for his re-election. Dr. C. L. Abbott and D. W. McLaughlin attended the Sacramento meeting as representatives.

If Clarence Darrow takes the stump in California for Chas. Sumner Young for U. S. senator, there will be nothing to it, and Clarence may receive instructions to "get busy," as Chas. Sumner Young is the logical candidate for the people.

J. P. Arnold, candidate for sheriff, and Clarence Odell, who is in the race for the office of superior judge, addressed the 2700 club last Sunday. The candidates outlined their policies and were given the attention of one of the largest gatherings in the history of the club.

Made the Speech That Nominated Garfield

George A. Knight, who is to deliver the patriotic address at the Flag Day celebration that will be held in the Greek Theatre in Berkeley under the auspices of the order of Elks and the Grand Army of the Republic Sunday, June 14, will be called on to address not less than 10,000 persons, and more will be present if that vast outdoor auditorium will hold the crowds that will apply for admittance. Knight made the famous speech in 1884 at Chicago that nominated President Garfield thirty years ago. His voice penetrated every nook and corner of that immense auditorium, where more than 20,000 delegates and visitors applauded him. The acoustic properties of the Greek theatre may not be as good as the old auditorium in Chicago, but you will not need an ear trumpet to hear Knight. He is there with the megaphone voice—he has it yet.

Moffitt & Meade Want Union Men

Moffitt & Meade, contractors on the municipal highway work, employ union men, and strictly live up to union rules and scale of prices. Only English speaking men are employed. They turn down the man who offers to work for any old wage and live in any sort of way. By introducing this policy, the above firm are receiving much favorable mention by the men who are building Richmond and doing the actual work in the various lines of labor, skilled and unskilled.

County Assessor's Maps.

Speaking of systemizing and labor saving, one has only to visit the county assessor's office and see what George O. Meese has accomplished since he has occupied this office. Maps, the value of which can not be estimated, have been made and thousands of dollars saved the county in receipts from taxes that were lost under the old system. The work of Assessor Meese must be seen to be appreciated.

"News" Changes Editors.

George A. Carrere, who has held the position of editor of the News for several months, has severed his connection with the new morning daily and will probably engage in business in a northern city. Mr. Carrere proved to the entire satisfaction of the public that he could deliver the news in the morning organ in readable shape, the makeup of his paper reflecting credit and ability upon him as an editor. His successor is J. F. Richardson, an experienced newspaperman and writer, who comes from the News of San Francisco, a Scripps paper, and a friend of the workman.

That Mr. Richardson has received the training and education which especially fits him for his new position here, cannot be gainsaid. His past experience places him in close touch with the community he is to serve in the manufacturing city of Richmond.

The Terminal wishes Mr. Carrere all kinds of success in his new venture, and also his successor on the News, Mr. Richardson.

Polytechnic Grads to Have Class Day

The graduation exercises of the Polytechnic Business College of Richmond will take place in the auditorium of the college Friday, June 19. The college under the supervision and management of Professor Anderson is in a most prosperous condition. The auditorium will be artistically decorated for the occasion. The graduation ball will be given June 23.

Still Going Up. Vote Increasing

The week has been unusually quiet in city hall site matters. There has been no perceptible change in the situation, except the contention of the Harbor Tract promoters, who claim there is nothing to it except for the city to call off all other negotiations and locate the city building on their holdings on 20th street. This they claim, is the only legal way out of the dilemma. However, there are others who think different. The people claim to have a say, as the following vote indicates:

	VOTES.
Harbor Center	8900
Near 23d and Macdonald	8600
Canal Sub Division	8300
Richmond City Center	8000
Point Richmond	7900
North Richmond	7800

The labor councils of Richmond are planning a big get together smoker which promises to be one of the events of the season in organization matters. The prime object is to get men better acquainted, so that solidarity may eventually be attained in working out plans that make better conditions for the workers.

Chester Says:

"Remember, the progressive registration may be ridiculously small in spots, but when the ballots are counted there will be some surprise, hear me?"

Abstracts Required.

Attorney De Lap petitioned the city council to require property owners on Tenth street to furnish abstracts of title for all property affected in the widening of the street. The petition was granted, and the city will thus avoid complications arising from liens and mortgages. The costs will be assessed to the district.

Calvary.

Probe of Key Route Railways Continues

"FILTERED KNOCKS." (On the Water Question)

Richmond cannot afford to adopt a river water system.

The Sacramento river water graft is losing out, so it is said.

The water now supplied Richmond is far superior to river water for household use.

Don't mix your Sacramento river water with your salts until after you have used alum.

The wells in the vicinity of Richmond have demonstrated an abundance of pure, soft water.

Our citizens want the best, the purest water. Our water supply is good enough until that time comes.

Some of the excursionists who went on the trip up river are declaring themselves strongly against the project.

Portland has good drinking water from the mountain snows, and visitors and tourists speak in highest terms of its potability.

In the Mississippi valley the big cities would not use river water if they could secure pure mountain snow water, a la Hetch Hetchy.

The Richmond Terminal newspaper has received much praise in its policy against the big bond issue of $2,500,000 for river water.

Large sales of pure water for drinking purposes are made in Sacramento where the river water is used, and these vendors are getting rich.

Mr. Workman, if you wish a cessation from paying installments, so that your wife may get a new winter suit, vote against the big, long time, river water (filtered sewage) bond issue.

Announcement

I hereby announce myself to the people of Richmond as a candidate for re-election to the office of JUSTICE OF THE PEACE which I now hold and promise that if elected I will serve them as conscientiously in the future as I have in the past.

MILLIONS GROWING ON CALIFORNIA FRUIT TREES

High Water Mark of Prosperity Revealed by State's Orchards

San Francisco.—R. J. Bentley, president of the California Fruit Canners' Association, gave the following resume of California's splendid fruit prospects:

One-sixth of all the wealth that will come to California in 1914 from its crops and from the mines will be from orchard products. Accepting as true the value of all products at $476,000,000, there will come from the orchards about $82,000,000.

As a whole, the orchardists will have a prosperous year. The reflex of their prosperity will be developed in every line in San Francisco.

There will be a shortage in the quantity of prunes, but on the whole the prune raisers will receive about as much money for their crop as usual, prices being unusually high. There is a big crop of peaches, with rather low prices, but the quantity of the crop will even things up for the producers.

You can say that the orchardists will contribute their full share to the general prosperity of California in 1914.

Leaves Securities in Machine; Thief Walks Off With Bacon

San Francisco.—"What was the value of the securities in the stolen suitcase?" Judge Shortall asked Fred Hartsook, who appeared in his court to testify against Rafael Rodriguez, who he had accused of stealing a suitcase from his automobile.

"Ninety thousand dollars," Hartsook calmly replied. The judge looked incredulous and inquired of the court officers: "Did you hear what I did?" and the listeners in the courtroom laughed. Hartsook assured the court that $90,000 was about the value of the securities.

"Put it in a safe deposit vault," advised the judge. "There are a lot of people looking for you and your suitcase."

COURT DECISIONS MOST IMPORTANT TO SHIPPERS

San Francisco.—The United States Supreme Court Monday rendered two vitally important decisions involving all railways in this country. They were:

In the Shreveport case—That where interstate commerce is affected, the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission takes precedence over that of the State Railroad Commission.

In the Los Angeles case—That railroads have no right to make switching charges to and from industries located on side tracks within the carrier's switching limits. This decision means a probable refund of at least $3,000,000 to San Francisco and Los Angeles shippers.

MADE MOTHER TROUBLE; BOY MAY BE A SUICIDE

San Francisco.—"Tell my mother that I have drowned myself because I was too much of a bad boy to her," August Kahran.

This note, found on the seat of the sprinkling cart the boy had been driving, is the clew to the motive of the supposed suicide of August Kahran, who, overcome with remorse following a quarrel with his mother, is believed to have jumped into the bay. The note was found when, after the boy had been missing some time, his cart was searched. The note, found on the seat, was addressed: "Whoever finds this note turn it over to a policeman."

Victory for Organized Baseball

Sacramento.—Gordon C. Culver, cashier of the Oak Park branch of the Sacramento Bank, has identified A. D. Silkwood, a prisoner in the county jail, as the man who robbed the bank in daylight on March 7, getting $2200 in coin and currency. Silkwood is under arrest for assaulting his two nieces.

San Francisco.—According to rulings made by the Election Commission the Municipal Ownership Association was nearly 600 short of the required names necessary to hold up the Southern Pacific Third and Townsend street franchise and submit it to a vote of the people. The commission held that the time had gone by for the filing of additional names and that the petition had failed.

Minimum Wage for Girls

Olympia, Wash.—The minimum wage for girls employed in industrial occupations in Washington will be $8.90 a week. The regulation goes into effect August 2. The Minimum Wage Commission accepted the recommendation which had been agreed to at a recent conference between employers, employees and representatives of the disinterested public. The words came with greater distinctness, it is said, than is customary over a telephone connected by wire.

FORGETS HE'S MARRIED, MARRIES AGAIN AND AGAIN FORGETS

Los Angeles.—Lawrence F. Converse was arrested here on the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Amelia Converse, that under the name of Max Lawrence he had married Reatha Watson, a young moving picture actress.

Converse, who became the subject of an international dispute at the time of his imprisonment by Federal agents at Juarez, Mexico, in 1911, denied any knowledge of the wedding. He said he had no memory of anything that occurred in the last few days, and found himself near Lordsburg, about twenty-five miles east of here.

THREE ANTI-TRUST BILLS PASSED BY THE HOUSE

All Administration Measures Up to the Senate for Action

Washington.—All three bills on the Administration trust legislation programme have passed the House and were sent to the Senate for action.

Opposition melted away when the final test came and the voting went through quickly.

The Covington interstate trade commission bill was passed without a record vote; the Clayton omnibus anti-trust measure received 275 votes to 54 against it and the vote on the Rayburn railroad capitalization bill was 325 to 12.

The Clayton general trust bill carried the labor and farmers' organizations exemption clause and limitations on the power of courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes.

The Clayton bill, besides the pro-labor amendments, carries legislation against the use of unfair methods by large corporations and seeks to restore competition. It provides also against interlocking directorates among competing concerns and between corporations and their supply companies.

MT. LASSEN'S CRATER GROWING IN EXTENT

Salty Streams Issue From Orifice Measuring 50x300 Feet

Red Bluff.—A great enlargement in the crater on Mount Lassen was noted by Forest Supervisor A. J. Rushing of Mineral, who returned from an inspection of the mountain. Rushing says the orifice now measures 50 by 300 feet, with more steam than ever issuing from it.

The original dimensions of the crater were given by Forest Ranger Harvey Abbey as from twenty-five to thirty feet in width and forty feet in length. The crater has, therefore, more than doubled in size.

The steam is now smoky in color, due, it is thought, to the volcanic ash formation being mixed with it. The ash and cinders that have blown out of the fissure now cover the ground to a thickness of one foot for a distance of 500 feet.

Rushing accounts for the great quantity of steam by stating that the point of eruption is but a few feet from the edge of a frozen lake, and that the ice is gradually melting and pouring into the geyser. It is then emitted as steam.

Red Bluff.—Mount Lassen burst forth in a new and violent eruption Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and considerable damage is feared by forest officials. At that time, without any preliminary warning, the sputtering hole of the last week turned into a live and active crater.

FARMER STEERS MACHINE OVER HIGH EMBANKMENT

Redding.—Roy Bingham of Huntington Beach picked up a farmer who was walking along the road, giving him a ride for company's sake. Wanting to light a cigarette, Bingham asked the farmer to take the wheel. The farmer steered the car over a 100-foot embankment. Bingham's right arm was broken and the former cut up. The car was abandoned, not being worth salvage.

FARMERS ORGANIZE LEAGUE AGAINST EIGHT-HOUR LAW

Davis.—The formation of the Farmers' Protective League followed the numerous papers and addresses against the proposed universal eight-hour labor bill that marked the forty-fourth annual convention of the California Fruit Growers' Association. Despite the sentiment in favor of the law among the working classes feeling was strong against the proposed measure here.

Traffic Expert Retained

San Jose.—W. M. Hopkins, a Chicago traffic expert, has been employed by the business men of San Jose and Santa Clara to obtain data regarding traffic rates granted by the railroads to 200 California cities and present the facts to the Interstate Commerce Commission at the hearing of the charges made by San Jose that other important towns of the State are given privileges by the railroads.

Suffragette's Little Hatchet

London.—A savage attack with a hatchet was made by a young and stylishly gowned suffragette on an attendant at the Dore Gallery, who tried to prevent her from destroying valuable pictures on exhibition there. She turned on the man and rained a shower of blows on his body, severely injuring him.

Plan National Home for Lepers

Washington.—The presence in Washington of John Early, alleged leper, resulted in the introduction of two bills to provide for a national home for lepers.

NEW HAVEN TO BE SUED FOR PLUNDER

Stockholders Demand Return of Over a Million Dollars Stolen by Board of Directors

Boston.—A gigantic $125,000,000 suit against the J. Pierpont Morgan estate, William Rockefeller, Lewis Cass Ledyard and other directors of the New Haven Railroad is being planned by Boston stockholders. The suit will be the first step in a great battle in the courts to force the looters of the New Haven and the Boston and Maine to disgorge the millions of which both roads have been robbed in the past ten years.

The direct purpose of the legal proceedings is to compel the Morgan estate, Rockefeller, Ledyard and the other New Haven directors to make restitution to the stockholders of the vast sums which they believe have been taken from the railroad's treasury and flagrantly misused for improper and illegal ends in absolute defiance of the law.

The suit will be epoch-making. It will be the first time under like circumstances that railroad directors will have been brought to book for permitting the railroads which they control to be pillaged with impunity.

The suit will involve at least a hundred million—probably more. This tremendous amount covers the entire period of what they charge to be the deliberate plunderings of the New Haven system.

Ex-President Mellen of the New Haven road stated: "If the tendency to consolidate is to go on; if 'united we stand and divided we fall' is then a maxim of business efficiency, then it follows that public attention ought to be directed to curing or restricting the evils of this large unit which is commonly called a monopoly."

"There is no lesson so clearly taught by history, both business and political history, as the lesson that absolute power will be abused by ninety-nine in every hundred men. The very selfishness which nature implants in us to stimulate our energies for progress makes it almost inevitable that we will abuse great power over other people, when we have it."

To Reduce High Cost of Living

Philadelphia.—What is regarded as an effective blow at the high cost of living is the establishment of an order and food products bureau by the Adams Express Company. The company will promote more intimate relations between the producer or dealer and the consumer, and create a market for food products that, in the ordinary complicated and cumbersome system of handling commodities, frequently means a loss to the grower and entails unnecessary high cost to the ultimate buyer.

AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS COLLECT DATA ON SOILS

University of California to Give Valuable Aid to Farmers

Davis.—Under the direction of Dean Hunt, the University of California College of Agriculture is collecting information concerning California, by which it will be possible to give definite advice to prospective settlers as to location, size of farm and other requisites of success in this State.

The data will be gathered from experienced ranchers. Professor C. F. Shaw of Berkeley, soil expert, told of the soils of California, and their location and type that are adapted to the various branches of the farming industry. This is a part of the information which will be contained in the publication to be issued by the College of Agriculture.

The resolutions committee has about completed its deliberations. The only resolution of great general interest to the fruit growers will be the asking for some sort of regulation which will permit the inspection of nursery stock shipped by parcel post.

U. S. SENATOR.

To elect a successor to Hon. Geo. W. Perkins, unity at the polls will depend largely upon the record and character of the candidate. He must be in keen sympathy with the advanced thought of the age. He must have a record of achievement behind him that will be a guaranty of his Sincerity. The time has gone by when the mere fact that large interests are to finance a candidate insures his election. There is no chance for such a candidate to win. It will mean defeat to nominate such a candidate. No man financed by special interests will fill the requirements.

There are a number of candidates in the field, and more coming. It is conceded by all intelligent voters that no candidate stands a show unless he receives labor's vote, for organized labor will vote as a unit next fall, and their standard bearer regardless of party label must be a man who possesses the moral stature to stand out boldly and defiantly for the workers, the men and women of the foremost progressive state in the Union.

The Terminal's candidate, Hon. Chas. Sumner Young of Bakersfield, is the man who stands for the welfare of the people above all other things. He represents personal and political independence. Clarence Darrow, one of the deepest thinkers of the age, said: "If Chas. Sumner Young consents to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate, I will go to California and stump the state for him."

The endorsement of Mr. Young by this great labor leader is worth passing notice, and would practically insure Mr. Young's election should he consent to enter the race.

The Richmond Terminal news paper is popular because it stands for the people. Its subscription list is growing, and there is a reason.

The pending home rule in taxation has been endorsed by 20 city councils to date. Last Monday night San Rafael city council unanimously endorsed a resolution favoring the amendment.

Home rule in taxation is not single tax as advocated by the senior Henry George. Home rule means just what it says: A fair and equitable tax to apply to your particular locality and condition. Nothing unfair or arbitrary about that.

An inventor of a fly trap recommends beer for baiting purposes. He says that the fly loves beer, and after becoming "jagged" walks right in the trap, his sense of caution becoming dulled, not caring whether "school keeps or not."

Newspapers receive bales and bales of free advertising literature that goes directly and quickly into the waste basket. A small check covering cost of composition, ink, wear and tear on the equipment, often works wonders with a publisher's bump of generosity.

If a fly lays 120 eggs at one sitting, and the eggs hatch matured flies in ten days, one hundred million flies all sitting and hatching at one time, would call for a vast army of swatters at one fly per swat. Authorities on fly swatting claim that the breeding places should be wiped out first, then flies could not multiply at such an alarming ratio.

Ten years ago the mine owners of Colorado imported 12,000 strike breakers, who are now the strikers of today. Paying these miners in script, forcing them to trade at company stores, and refusing to supply proper safety appliances, has caused one of the greatest horrors of the century and given the Centennial state some very undesirable advertising.

"TIME COPY."

(BY OLD TIMER)

Gene Field, Bill Nye, Nick Waterman, Walt Mason, Will Maupin and other humorist writers of the early eighties were read and appreciated. The reading public had time to laugh. If Field and Nye were to return and occupy their respective editorial chairs again, their productions would hardly receive passing notice. We are living under such intensified conditions of life that the lighter vein and restful attitude is forgotten. We now have head-line and commercialized readers. Occasionally there is a newspaper of the old style, a column devoted to humorous paragraphs, but however entertaining, the author is an unknown, for readers do not have time to laugh—the dollar habit has got them.

Reminiscent writers often refer to traits of character, quality, companionship, etc., with the Nyes and Fields of over a quarter of a century ago. Sometimes they can get away with it without being "called." Joe Tracey of the Pittsburg Post, this county, seems to "have been there," and has a good memory. He knows "who was who" on the Missouri river from 1880 down to date. If Joe didn't throw "rings" all around Walt Mason, or other celebrated opinion molders, paragraphing or write humorous stories, he has at least set their productions in cold type, or proved galleys, or chased after smoking tobacco for the notables so familiarly referred to by some of the twentieth century editors.

The marked nomadic proclivities of printers in the eighties afforded an extensive acquaintanceship. If memory does not fail us, Nick Waterman blew into Council Bluffs from Creston on the "Q," and launched "The Reflector" in the early eighties. The "World" started in Omaha and lost no time in grabbing Waterman, the unknown, a country boy who has become famous for high grade verse and literary productions. The World consolidated with the Herald, and Will Maupin appeared, Waterman going to an eastern publication. Walt Mason was afterward the drawing card on The Lincoln Journal, and was finally succeeded by Maupin. Field performed on the Denver Tribune in 1880, and succeeded Nye, who established himself in Laramie, Wyo., where he made himself famous with "The Boomerang."

All the above were and are in a class by themselves. Many of their old shopmates are scattered around on the coast, printers and writers, "good, bad and indifferent." But it must be conceded by all, that the famous producers of "Sharps and Flats" absorbed much of their wit and humor from the composing rooms.

In fact, it is as Charles Dana said: "When I want a good newspaperman, I select him from the composing room. He should bear the odor of printers' ink."
